DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 13 May 2003 has been entered.

2. Applicant's Preliminary Amendment and Response To Advisory Action has been examined. Claims 1-11 are amended. Claims 1-11 are pending.

Specification

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: Applicant's request to cancel Figure 3c has been entered. Applicant must now delete all references to Figure 3c in the specification.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

4. Claims 1, 2, 7, 8, and 9 are objected to because of the following informalities: Pursuant to claim 1 at lines 2-3, the terminology "selectively present" is confusing. Examiner suggests using the phrase selectively enabled in accordance with Applicants' specification (page 8). Pursuant to claim 2, at line 2, delete "capable of being". Pursuant to claim 7, the recitation of this claim is confusing as Applicants claim a method for generating a computer core interface but later recite the generation of only a computer core. For examination purposes, the limitation "generating a computer core" is interpreted as generating a computer core interface. Pursuant to claim 8, at line 3, the phrase “a signal carrier is present” is confusing based on Applicant’s specification which suggests that this phrase should state a signal carrier is enabled. Pursuant to claim 9, at line 8, “the selected interface lacks antecedent basis”; at line 9, after “core”, insert - -with a configured interface- -. Appropriate correction is required.

Art Unit: 2825

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

6. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for selecting configuration options, does not reasonably provide enablement for deriving configuration options for one core from another core. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention commensurate in scope with this claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Rejection of claims 1-10

8. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Guccione et al., U.S. Patent 6,216,259. Guccione teaches a system and method for configuration of a programmable logic device using routing cores.

9. Pursuant to claim 1 which recites [a] computer core comprising at least one interface signal carrier that is configurable, at compilation, such that the at least one interface signal carrier can be selectively present. (col. 2, ll. 30-48).

10. Pursuant to claim 2 wherein at least one interface signal carried by the interface signal carrier is configured to support different levels of functionality (col. 2, ll. 49-59).

11. Pursuant to claim 3, wherein a signal carrier width of the interface signal carrier is configurable to support different signal widths (col. 6, line 41 to col. 7, line 15).

12. Pursuant to claim 4, which recites a computer core comprising at least one interface signal carrier that is configurable, at compilation, such that at least one interface signal carrier can be configured to support different levels of functionality (col. 4, line 30 to col. 5, line 48 which discloses bit level interface software).

13. Pursuant to claim 5, wherein a signal carrier width is configurable to support different signal widths (col. 6, line 41 to col. 7, line 15).

14. Pursuant to claim 6 which recites a computer core comprising a signal width of at least one interface signal carrier configurable at compilation to support different signal widths (col. 6, line 41 to col. 7, line 15).

15. Pursuant to claim 7, which recites a method for generating at compilation a computer core interface comprising providing configurable source code representative of the computer core interface and identifying parameters of the computer core interface (col. 3, line 54 to col. 4, line 10); defining configuration parameters of the computer core interface (col. 4, ll. 45-66) and generating a computer core interface from the configurable source code representative of the computer core interface comprising an interface with identified parameters of the interface (col. 5, ll. 25-65).

16. Pursuant to claim 8, wherein at least one of the configuration parameters of the computer core interface is selected from the group of parameters that define whether a signal carrier is present in the computer core interface (col. 2, ll. 49-59).

17. Pursuant to claim 9, which recites a method for generating at compilation a core with a configured interface, comprising implementing the core as configurable source code utilizing a least one defined parameter of the core interface (col. 3, line 54 to col. 4, line 10); selecting at least one configuration option for the core interface (col. 4, ll. 45-66); generating the core with a configured interface. . . (col. 5, ll. 25-65).

18. Pursuant to claim 10, wherein selecting at least one configuration option is performed thorough a graphical user interface (col. 3, ll. 54-65; col. 4, ll. 1-3).

Remarks

19. Pursuant to the preliminary amendment, the prosecution of the instant application has been transferred to Art Unit 2825 and further the application reclassified in class 716 subclass 17.
